Product Description

You can connect this audio jack cable from Delock to a free jack socket of your iPhone, iPod, iPad etc. and lead out two jack sockets. This means that two people can comfortably listen to the same music via two headphones at the same time. In addition, this splitter cable supports the microphone function for both jack sockets, so that two people can take part in a conversation at the same time. This cable is therefore particularly suitable for telephone conferences, Skype calls and the like.
